

Dunn Named President of Brose

John Dunn has been appointed president of Brose North America, effective Aug. 1.

Dunn has been employed by Brose for 14 years and was most recently responsible for regional production as COO for Brose in North America since 2007.

Dunn graduated with degrees in engineering from Purdue University and from the University of Wisconsin.

He was appointed general manager of the Chicago plant in 2002, after joining Brose North America as director for General Motors Door System business in 1998.

Dunn succeeds Jan Kowal, who will become chairman of Brose North America. Kowal has been with the company for 26 years.

Most notably, he was responsible for the expansion of Brose's presence in North America.

Since he took over responsibility for the region in 1999, sales have expanded from a level of $90 million to over $1 billion, which is now supported by eight production locations in North America and 4,000 employees.

Visteon's Chair Steps Down

Auto parts supplier Visteon says its chairman, president and CEO Don Stebbins has stepped down.

The company, which earlier this month cut its full-year sales forecast because of expected production cuts in Europe, South America and China, said last week that board member Timothy D. Leuliette will serve as interim CEO and president.

Stebbins had served as CEO since June 2008 and was named chairman in December of that year. He joined Visteon as president and COO in May, 2005.

Meanwhile, Visteon Corp. said it will conduct a search to find candidates for the CEO and president roles.

Earlier, Leuliette was CEO of supplier Dura Automotive.

Campbell Ewald Names Barbara Yolles Marketing Chief

WARREN – Barbara Yolles will join the marketing communications firm Campbell Ewald as Chief Marketing Officer.

"I am pleased to add Barbara to this new role and the Campbell Ewald team," said Bill Ludwig, chairman and CEO.

"Her experience in developing game-changing solutions to build and grow agency business, along with her innovative tactics and industry relationships, will bring a fresh and complementary perspective to our efforts to further grow the Campbell Ewald brand."

In this position, Yolles will be responsible for developing market and business development plans and implementing winning strategies to drive growth for the agency. She will also oversee marketing and communications.

Yolles joins Campbell Ewald most recently from McCann Erickson where she was Chief Growth Officer of North America. There, she led the business development efforts of nine McCann offices and was instrumental in repositioning the agency among key growth prospects.

Previously, she held positions with Doner, McDonald's Corp., Hair Cuttery, and Ally & Gargano. She attended the University of Michigan and received her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Maryland. She currently resides in Birmingham.

'Smart Cars Pilot' Will Be at U-M

The University of Michigan Transportation Research Institute will host U.S. Transportation Secretary Ray LaHood, Gov. Rick Snyder and industry and community leaders to launch the deployment of the U.S. Dept. of Transportation's Connected Vehicle Safety Pilot on Aug. 23.

The first of its kind effort will test a Wi-Fi-like technology that allows vehicles and highway infrastructure to communicate with each other and could help reduce crashes and improve traffic congestion.

The U-M Transportation Research Institute will conduct the year-long project in Ann Arbor where nearly 3,000 cars, trucks and buses equipped with vehicle-to-vehicle and vehicle-to-infrastructure devices.
